a conversation with BILL JOHNSON

MATT Your new book, The Way of Life, is what we are talking about. Would you open the door to what we are going to be breaking down?

BILL The way of life is this—God’s intention is to influence the nature of this world until it reflects the nature of His world. That is our assignment. Jesus told us to pray specifically for heaven on earth. He told us to pray for the will of God to be done here as it is in heaven. That has to be measurable, or we won’t be encouraged by seeing our prayers answered. In John 16 He said you will ask the Father in My name and He will give you whatever you ask, that your joy may be full. The full expression of joy is supposed to come from our co-laboring relationship with God as we see His will done here.

MATT When I read the book, one part—chapter 9, entitled Jesus: Unafraid of the Secular—was really spectacular to me. Share what you are talking about in that chapter.

BILL God anointed enemy nations to care for the Promised Land, to take care of it until Israel was prepared to inherit it. Outside of His own chosen people, God used the talent of those nations to care for and build up the land that His people would inherit. In the same way, the Lord has a habit of depositing ideas in the secular culture that are supposed to be used by the church. For example, the word apostle was developed by the Greeks and borrowed by the Romans. An apostle was the lead ship in an armada that would go to a newly conquered area and bring transformation through education, architecture, language, and all of those things. They would make it accurately represent the land they represented. If their emperor would ever visit this newly conquered land, they would feel as at home there as they did in Rome.

MATT On earth as it is in heaven.

BILL Yes, we want God to feel as at home here as He does in heaven, because the culture has changed here to accommodate His presence and to live entirely for Him. The Romans started using this concept to transform the culture so it would be an accurate and healthy representation of Rome itself. This idea helps me to better understand what Jesus meant when He told us to pray “Thy will be done.”

MATT Sometimes it feels like the end game of Christians is to develop a great church, but that’s just really the preparation place. We have to go and transform the world we live in.

BILL Church is just an equipping place, and the transformation takes place outside of it. The culture of those cities in our country that have the greatest church attendance are tragically the least transformed (when you look at divorce rates, crime, and all of those social statistics). It’s not because there are so many people in church. Those people are changed, but their impact around them stops because they think that church is the end game. We must realize that we are being equipped to take what we experience in church, outside the four walls of the church. We bring transformation.

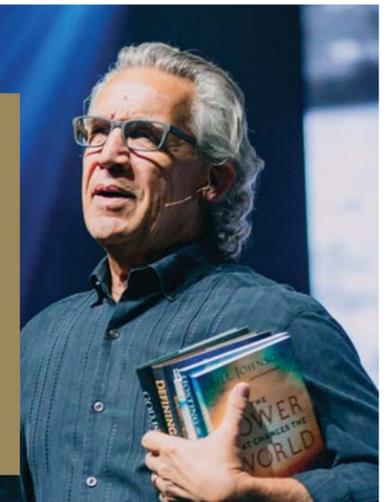

MATT Staying with chapter 9... Share more about the secular term for church. This one is really mind boggling.

BILL The word is ecclesia. When Jesus said I will build my church, He used that term—ecclesia. It means wherever two or three are gathered, they carry governmental influence. It’s a secular term referring to an institution that is planted within society to bring about change through that governmental representation. It gives great insight to what Jesus meant when He said “where two or three are gathered in My name, there I am in their midst.” He could have used a term that described a corporate gathering or a temple or a synagogue, but in this case, He was describing His people in their transformational role. Whenever two or three are gathered and they make that commitment together in prayer to a task, they are representing heaven to establish God’s order and influence in that secular environment.

MATT If someone gets your book, what will they learn that may be fairly new to them?

BILL What I long for is for us to experience, in a practical way, the reality of heaven here. In heaven, everything is connected to the presence of God, Himself. There are no shadows in heaven, because He is everywhere at once, shining at the same time, so that tells me that the culture of heaven is a presence-based culture. In the presence of God are the solutions and answers for every dilemma that we face.

MATT What kind of transformation do you want to happen from this book?

BILL I want people to know there is hope despite the situation. God is not nervous about anything. There is always an answer. There is a divine purpose for every part of our lives. My big dream is for the renewing of the mind. I want us to learn to think the way that Jesus thought. The goal isn’t to learn a principle so I can duplicate the last miracle. It’s to learn the voice so I can respond to what He’s saying now. That is a relational journey.

LAURIE You talk about the Kingdom being inside of us, and a lot of people don’t feel that. They don’t have peace in the storm. How do we help those people?

BILL Everything we think and do comes from love or fear. If there’s no realization of presence, then fear is operating. It’s one of the two. At some point, we must believe what God said in His Word is absolutely true. He revealed Himself as Emmanuel—God with us. I can be empowered and directed by Him. For every situation » that exists on the planet, He has a solution. My cry is that the Lord would give us a renewed mind. The renewed mind proves the will of God which is good, acceptable, and perfect. It's thinking differently that enables us to demonstrate the reality of His world in this one. TBN

A Prayer from Pastor Bill:

Father, I ask that the presence and power of the Spirit of God would come upon every person that hears this—that there would be such a deep and profound encounter with You, that we would become mindful of You and of Your heart. That we would be contagious in our hope for situations that used to intimidate us, but now we subject them to Your purposes and look at them with great triumph and great victory, knowing that You have already accomplished everything that is necessary to become victorious. In Jesus' name, I pray that there would be clarity of thought and mind. In everything and every place that we are in life, I pray that You would capture the purpose of those moments and that we could give them as offerings to You. We look for You to come and for the fire of Your presence to fall upon the offering that we give You so that every place of employment becomes a place of habitation—a place where Your presence, Your power, Your glory is manifest in the earth. Let the reality of the Old Testament Promised Land shape how we think, how we approach abundance, how we approach the purpose that we are alive. And for all this we say, Jesus be glorified and exalted in everything we are and everything we do.

FULFILLING THE Great Commission

As January 1, 2020, approaches, we are preparing to present a view of the Great Commission in action. TBN's the State of Faith initiative may be our most ambitious project ever and will shine the light on how Christianity is shaping history and providing "salt and light" to the world. How we engage with global culture and share the Gospel message is a powerful story.

As Christians, we are called to "go and make disciples of all nations" and we will explore how the Good News impacts your life and the lives of billions of other Christians around the world. We've sectioned the world into 20 regions—each with a unique history, cultural influences, and challenges for today.

The adventure will begin where Christianity began, in the Eastern Mediterranean. Other regions include: Southeast Asia, Central/South America, the British Isles, and Central Africa. As the story of Christianity unfolds, you will learn how it spread—to the home of your ancestors and to your home today.

As the story of Christianity unfolds, you will learn how it spread—to the home of your ancestors and to your home today.

As always, TBN seeks to reach as many people as possible around the world with the life-changing message of hope and grace. But the purpose—to glorify God through the Gospel, leading others to a personal relationship with our Savior—will never change.

We hope you will join us in this venture. Learn more at thestateoffaith.com.

COUNTDOWN TO 2020 the STATE of FAITH

43 WEEKS 05 DAYS

THIS MONTH IN CHRISTIAN HISTORY

461

Ever wonder who St. Patrick was? The patron saint of Ireland, a missionary named Patrick, was enslaved as a youth, but escaped to Gaul (France). After a vision called him back to preach, he returned to Ireland, where he had great success. Tradition holds that he died on the 17th of March 461.

1748

Amazing Grace may be the most beloved hymn of all time. It was written by John Newton, a former slave trader, after his conversion to Christianity in March 1748.

1880

Although the Salvation Army originated in England, it has a long and blessed history of service to the needy in the U.S. Commissioner George S. Railton and seven female ministers arrived in New York City this month in 1880.

1953

Billy Graham conducted 417 crusades in 185 countries and territories on six continents, reaching over 200 million people. It was in Chattanooga, Tennessee, this month in 1953 that he held his first integrated revival, ending a southern tradition of segregation.

MY | STORY: Faith Forward Transformations

"I was mute—
now I get to be the voice of children!"

Kandra tells her story in her own words at:
watch.tbn.tv/videos/my-story-14

As a child, Kandra Albury was a victim of sexual abuse. The trauma left her mute, not able to talk, especially in the presence of adults. She simply did not trust them. Her predator had stolen her voice.

Between the ages of 5 and 7, she realized that her voice, her innocence, and her authentic identity had been stolen. She carried on her own shoulders the blame, the guilt, the shame. She mostly blamed herself.

Her TV was almost always tuned to TBN. Through the messages of hope and grace, God put something in her, and she began to learn that being down was not her destiny. God spoke to her through His Word, particularly in Isaiah where He promises He "will give us beauty for ashes, the oil of joy for mourning, a garment of praise for the spirit of heaviness" (see Isaiah 61:3, NKJV).

Through Jesus Christ, she has found her true identity, she has found healing, and in Him she is righteous. Through forgiveness, she found closure—she found peace.

Kandra has found purpose in her pain, and now she is a children's advocate, providing education and empowerment.

All for God's glory.
